❖ ABOUT THE COLLEGE

DAPP Mkushi College of Education is the first teacher training college established in Zambia by Development Aid from People to People (DAPP). The College provides a unique programme to student teachers, preparing them to become passionate teachers with the will, heart and skills to work in rural areas, where there is dire need for trained teachers to complement Government effort in providing quality education.

In April 2015 DAPP-DNS Mkushi College of Education was officially affiliated with the University of Zambia.

The college offers a 3 year unique Primary School teacher Diploma curriculum which follows a holistic approach by combining theory and practice. The college aims at producing teachers who will display a high level of competence in the delivery of knowledge, skills and attitudes to learners at grades 1-7 levels and a high level of professionalism in their execution of duties.
